Connect with a $9 Billion+* Professional Services Market

Participate in PSX: the one of a kind conference and showcase exclusively for GSA Professional Services Schedule Contractors.

The General Services Administration has partnered with Post Newsweek Tech Media Group to help GSA Professional Services Schedule Contractors/Exhibitors connect with thousands of government buyers who purchase professional services.

Join GSA Professional Services Schedule Contractors at PSX and:

- Connect with over 2,000 government buyers of professional services from over 400 federal agencies who are driving the $9 billion* GSA Schedule Professional Services Market
- Attend special vendor-only training designed to help you sell to the federal marketplace
- Learn from GSA services executives how to maximize the value of your GSA Services Schedule
- Network with other vendors to build partnerships for providing complete solutions
- Leverage high-value promotional sponsorships to reinforce your message
- Attend all government training sessions presented by GSA

Over 2,000 government buyers of professional services will attend this educational event to:

- Learn the best techniques for buying services on the GSA Services Schedules
- Learn what services and vendors are available on the GSA Services Schedules
- Meet and compare your service with other services providers on GSA Schedules
- Earn Continuing Education Units (CEUs) through education sessions presented by GSA
- Choose from over 30 training sessions presented by GSA
- Shop the tradeshow floor to find the professional services they need to meet their mission challenges.

Limited availability, so reserve your space today! Call 1-888-345-7624 ext. 190 or email kbrown@postnewsweektech.com for availability and marketing opportunities. Be part of PSX, the premier event designed to help you maximize your GSA Professional Services schedule.
